Fiat 500 headlight cap

Read more For , the Fiat lineup gets two new models with improved performance. The new Fiat Turbo adds a horsepower, 1. The big news for those who choose the standard-engine Fiat and c convertible models is that they now achieve 31 mpg city, 40 highway--up 1 mpg in the city and 2 on the highway, respectively. Also new to the lineup for is a 'Beats by Dr. Dre' audio system that offers "a high-definition music experience the way the artist intended. Read more The Fiat and c Cabrio are now offered in two body styles, as well as with several different powertrains. You don't need to select one of the turbocharged models in order to tap into the 's fun-to-drive qualities. With quick-ratio electric power steering and a light, nimble driving feel, the Fiat is very sporty and maneuverable at city speeds, yet stable on the highway. The Fiat is offered in Pop and Lounge models for the entire lineup of coupes and c convertibles, but coupes are also offered in Sport, Sport Turbo and Abarth variants. Pop models are priced with other affordable, efficiency-minded small hatchbacks but do include Bluetooth hands-free connectivity, an auxiliary input, iPod controls, cruise control, a trip computer and power windows, locks and mirrors. Lounge models are really the next choice up for those who don't want to go the performance route with their Both and c Lounge models include special chromed accents in front and in back plus fog lamps, a security alarm, a fixed glass roof in coupes , 9-spoke cast-aluminum wheels, premium cloth seats, a leather-trimmed steering wheel with audio controls, Sirius XM satellite radio, and an upgraded watt, 6-speaker sound system. At the Sport level, you don't get all the extras of the Lounge trim, but you do get a long list of performance-related upgrades, such as a stiffer sport-tuned suspension, a sport exhaust, firmer steering calibration, red-painted brake calipers, fog lamps, additional cladding and aerodynamic bodywork, plus sport-styled seating and a sport steering wheel. These models also get the premium sound system. Lounge models do give a taste of both personalities however, as they offer a Sport mode that with the press of a button make throttle response sharper. Fiat Sport Turbo models are new this year and add a horsepower, turbocharged version of the 1. The suspension also is tuned for stronger performance and in back there's a unique lower control arm arrangement to aid handling. The Turbo also gets a set of performance upgrades on the outside, including Gloss Black headlamp, taillamp and parking-lamp bezels, a black-accented rear diffuser, bolder side skirts, a special 'twin-nostril' front fascia, a liftgate-mounted spoiler and big inch black-painted alloy wheels. Abarth models add even more performance to the Sport Turbo, with a specially tuned horsepower version of that engine, plus an Abarth-tuned suspension, that includes Koni Frequency Selective Dampers, and upgraded brakes--plus a raspier exhaust note that lets this model be known both from inside the car and from a distance. The new 'Beats by Dr. Dre audio system that's available in both and c models offers a high-definition experience with a special Beats Audio digital sound processing algorithm plus an 8-inch dual-voice-coil subwoofer in a trunk enclosure and a watt, 8-channel amplifier. Size: 85MM Verified Purchase. These will not fit as-delivered, but were easy to modify to fit. The cap has as an inner flange that would normally fit inside the hole of whatever you're mounting them on. However, the diameter of this flange is too large to fit inside the opening of the F headlight housing hole. Use some shears or scissors to trim this flange off. The outside of the cap has just enough tension to hold onto the outside of the F headlight housing opening. If you don't feel confident, place a small dab of adhesive inside before installing. Images in this review. The 85MM size fit well for the Ram Quad lights. The low beam fit tight and had a perfect seal. The high beam has one area where the opening buts against the outside plastic. You will need to cut out an area in the outside plastic of the seal to fit properly in this area. The seal still felt tight and looks like it will protect the headlights from future dust, water and debris. First, these covers come without any tips or instruction; Second, they came packed into a square box and the lip holds that "squareness". Third, the rubber is very thick on the lip and does not want to stretch or fit. I tried prying it with a screw driver--no luck. I soaked it in HOT water to try to soften it up-- no luck. I eventually had to cut a hole into the existing cover to let the new LED heat sink stick out and then I slipped the cover over the remaining plastic and riveted that onto the cover. Works, but I went through a lot to get it to work. Size: MM Verified Purchase. Fits just snug enough. There is not much room on most cars so if its too tight you are not getting on. Had to upgrade the absolutely disgraceful stock headlights on my Acadia to LED's just so I could stay alive at night. After doing so I wasn't comfortable with how the stock covers jammed everything in there. These are a great solution and are 3 times as deep as the stock hard plastics. If not for these I would just leave no cover since I really need to see at night. For the price I'm very happy. One person found this helpful. I purchased these covers for a f when I did a LED headlight conversion. They were quite tough to get on as the lip is thicker on this product than the stock cover. But non the less, they worked. You just have to shove the lip into the housing with a flat screwdriver, just be careful to not poke through the rubber as its pretty soft compared to the stock one. With some patience they go on very snug but should provide years of dust coverage for your LED converted headlights. Fit 17 ram quad lights rear openings perfectly for those wondering. The seals fit my Toyota Sienna for led head lights replacement. I need to poke a hole in the middle of seals and fish through the led lights. However, the cup lip is too short and it does not attach the head light assembly securely. I have to use a zip tie to hold it in place. See all reviews. Pa
