For 21 years, this sickly little 6 cylinder Mustang sat in the Mustangs Plus wrecking yard. Let me introduce you to our newest completed Restomod Mustang here at Mustangs Plus. Project Reclaim started out as an experiment. It was a question that all of us at Mustangs Plus had, also. So, we decided to find out. But it never made it. It was always buried behind other less fortunate Mustang bodies which went instead of it. As luck would have it, it became the perfect candidate when we decided to see what the cost would be to bring a stripped and wrecked Mustang shell back to the same condition as a new Dynacorn body that you could buy. It was pulled out of the wrecking yard and over the next few months, Bill Faull,. It could be restored as stock or built as a Restomod, a street car with a V8 engine or as a racecar. And, it could be any color we wanted. As the project picked up steam, Mustang Monthly Magazine started to cover the build. In fact, there are at least two more articles in the works. Project Reclaim is the cover car on their December, issue and another article will be in the January, issue. Terry molded in the Restomod Ground Effect Kit and built custom side scoops for a cool, clean look. We then choose the fiberglass parts to use on Project Reclaim. For a hood, the style G. Also, the racing apron with a molded in front spoiler was also selected. For a deck lid, the fiberglass deck lid kit with a molded in rear spoiler and duck tail end caps were selected. With all of the fiberglass picked out, The Restomod Shop went to work to make all the fiberglass fit as best it could! It was sprayed on the body over a Wimbledon White base which would become the custom Le Mans stripes. As I said above, just a little different but very, very neat! A Flex-A-Lite fan and aluminum radiator combo was chosen to cool the torque happy stroker. For the transmission, I wanted something more exotic than a 5-speed so we choose a Tremec T six-speed from Ford Racing Performance Parts. Six-speed transmissions in early Mustangs are not common and I wanted to use it so other early Mustang enthusiast would know it could be done without having to butcher the floor. Ron Morris Performance engine and transmission mounts worked perfect. Gone were any and all evidence of the tired little 6 cylinder engine and 3-speed non-synchro-mesh transmission that the little fastback came from the Ford assembly line with. All except for the serial number, that is. The wiring was a maze of cut wires with ends that went to nowhere. In other words, it was junk. A complete Painless wiring system solved the problem. Our new Painless wiring system was simple to install and had the ability to handle the Edelbrock electric fuel pump, MSD ignition system, RetroSound stereo system, all the lights, gages, gadgets and the Electric Life power windows that were planned for Project Reclaim. We considered several types of exhaust systems but ended up with tried and true JBA shorties and Spintech front exiting mufflers to accommodate the side exit exhaust. It gives a great sound while idling and a deep, rich exhaust note while cruising; especially in sixth gear! Today, this little 6 cylinder Mustang Fastback no longer sits in a wrecking yard. A special thanks to all who had a hand in building Project Reclaim. Go to mustangsplus. Thanks for reading! The Restomod Shop really did a great job of turning the dying carcass of this Mustang into one healthy stud!
